

Albany Transfer Station--MEETING POSTPONED—Future Date to Be Announced

Public Meeting Originally Scheduled April 29th for 10AM and 7PM POSTPONED

Waste Management was looking forward to providing details of the transfer station project to area residents and other interested parties at the public information meetings on April 29. As we've engaged with residents regarding the details of this proposal and as we continue these conversations, we have decided to postpone the meeting and to look more closely at additional mitigation measures. We look forward to engaging with the community to provide more information on the long-term, positive outlook of this important project within the Port of Albany.

Waste Management operates transfer facilities that manage municipal solid waste in New York and across the country. Due to our extensive experience in operating these facilities, we believe that the proposal for the Port of Albany will not impact the local community. The facility would be equipped with features to reduce any potential for odors and there would be no increase in permitted truck traffic from the sites' current operations. With the additional long-term environmental benefits of a conversion of the diesel truck fleet to compressed natural gas (CNG) and economic benefits from an enterprise fund to for the residents of the South End, Waste Management strongly believes this project is the type of positive development in the Port of Albany that would benefit the City and all of its residents.

Future meeting dates will be announced in a similar manner to the original meeting notice process.
